

About CRL Sweden

CRL Sweden, one of the fast growing and amongst the leading Wireless Mesh Communication provider in the world, extends Customized Mesh Solutions, giving a boost to the software Wireless Communication culture around the globe, bundled with tailored services for Mesh routing and integration.

Our Expertise

We offer customized communication platforms software platforms for wireless Mesh networking with services for custom-made development and integration.

We are well equipped with the most modern technological innovation and enjoy the potential to develop numerous Mesh Products and Software's for information systems. Applicable R&D of Software's within telecommunication and information systems is our focal orbit.

With an extensive Mesh Software Product palette, we offer optimized Mesh Solutions for your Communication and Networking applications including urban Broadband networks, Telematics, Logistics, Mining, Heavy industry environments, and Telemetry amongst others. CRL not only provides Wireless Mesh Communication Solutions to its customers but also backs with radio expertise for product companies, OEM-vendors and system integrators.

Our Customers are...

- Product manufacturers
- OEMs/ ODMs
- Network Operators
- System Integrators

Who Creates Communication for...

- Wireless broadband Networks
- Mining & Heavy industry requirements
- Telemetry
- Telematics

WHY CRL Sweden?

With more than 5 years of professional development experience in the field of mesh /ad hoc networking, our dedicated development team of network software specialists offers the highest grade of custom made development services and commitment.

Our continued pursuit of high quality and innovation in the world of Mesh Communication has led us to this epitome technological success in the world of Mesh Communication. We aim to touch the horizon of hi-tech development by continuously upgrading and expanding our products and solutions portfolio.

